

These methods (EPISKIN(tm), EpiDerm(tm) and Rat Skin transcutaneous electrical resistance assay) are excellent tests, that are both reliable and valid indicators of potential skin problems. I urge you to continue your support of these methods and promote other non-animal tests that provide meaningful scientific data to promote human safety.

Steven Jay Gross, Ph.D.